I am very innovative, working and adaptable to various circumstances, both fast and with dedication, and I'm learning new skills. I have wide education and general curiosity, developed logic and analytics, as well as a desire for teamwork, constant advancement and improvement.

In addition to my existing knowledge in front-end development, I have a strong desire to expand my expertise into QA testing to broaden my skills within the realm of IT technologies. I am particularly eager to delve into manual and automated testing techniques to further enhance my proficiency in QA testing.
